RENNES, Aug. 26 .- When the opening of the fifth session of the third week o the second trial by courtmartial of Captain Alfred Dreyfus of the artillery, charged with treason, occurred, the clerk of the court read a medical certificate, signed by two doctors whose names were unknown to the audience, declaring it was impossible for Colonel Du Paty de Clam to leave his bed, come

> The court closely followed M. Gobert's exhaustive story of his examination of the bordereau and his interview with Generals Mercier. De Boisdeffre and Gonse. M. Gobert asserted that the handwriting of the bordereau was natural and fluent, but that it was almost illegible,

The witness asked General Gonse if the writer's careful caligraphy was like, $4,500, now it is but $800 and $300 of explaining that the address of a letter is always in a firmer hand than its con-

General Gonse refused the request on the ground that the witness must not know the name of the addressee. General Gonse, it appears from the testimony, was greatly enraged when he learned of the result of M. Gobert's examination of the bordereau and vis ited the expert repeatedly. The latter always insisted upon learning the name of the suspect.

The witness described how, from an examination of an official report on Dreyfus, from which Dreyfus' name had been removed, M. Gobert had the malicious satisfaction of telling General Gonse the name of the officer they wanted to arrest. It was after M. Gobert had refused to incriminate Dreyfus that M. Bertillon was entrusted with the examination of the bordereau, and, after a few hours' study, M. Bertillon positively attributed the bordereau to Dreyfus, Colonel Jouanst asked M. Gobert for a more definite criticism of the bordercan, and the witness replied that he nohandwriting of the bordereau and that of Dreyfus, but, he added, there were many important differences which proved to him that Dreyfus was not the important differences which author of the bordereau, and his opin-ion had since been confirmed, because it was now proved the bordereau was the work of Esterhazy. [Sensation.] Replying to the court, M. Gobert suggested that the judges compare the bordereau with a letter admitted to be in Esterhazy's handwriting and dated from Rouen, Aug. 17, 1894, and with documents written by the prisoner.

You will then unmistakably recognize," M. Gobert added, "that the borereau is in Esterhazy's handwriting and not in the handwriting of Dreytus."
[Great sensation.] The witness at this juncture identified the borderauu as the same which was submitted to him and he proceeded to point out the identity of letters therein with letters in documents admittedly written by Esterhazy, saying that while the resemblance was not apparent in Dreyfus' handwriting were not found in the prisoner's caliginghouse Statements-Consumers' Trade, Not Speculation. NEW YORK, Aug. 26 .- R. G. Dun &

day said in part:

Nothing is more eloquent than the facts. Actual payments through the principal clearinghouses for the week were 26.1 per cent larger than last year and 56.2 per cent larger than in the same week in 1892. For the month thus far the daily average of payments has been 26.2 per cent larger than last year and 56 per cent larger than in 1892. Tonnage from Chicago in three weeks have been 80.70 per cent larger than last year and 74 66 larger than in 1892. It will not be suggested by anybody that such an astonishing increase over the most prosperous of all past years except the last was expected. Most people really ence in amount of payments mainly due to rise in prices, for prices of several bundred articles actually range ower now on the whole than in August, It is a consumers' business also. Perhaps never before have demands for actual use controlled business and prices with so little speculation to anticipate higher markets. In fact the rise in jost articles has gone further than speculative opinions have warranted. Practically all industries are some months behind the requirements for actual use, and in many much of the sutput next year is already sold. Ironworks which supply Pittsburg are sold up far into 1900, and can do nothing though prices much beyond what they received are paid by those who must have iron this year. The enormous demand for more railroads, and rails and cars, more vessels, warehouses and buildings, to handle the extraordin ary business in progress, cannot be met as quickly as men would like, and work of all sorts is delayed, from the

The demand for woolen goods has gone beyond all expectations. The sales of wool are enormous, 35,677,190 pounds in four weeks, 30,119,940 pounds being domestic, with prices generally un changed though concessions are now made to secure sales in some lines. Reports of injury to wheat in the northwest have affected the market, but only for a day or two, the price closing three-quarters of a cent lower Atlantic exports were slightly larger than last year. Corn exports continue heavy, in four weeks 16,723,524 bushels, against 9,818. 113 for the same weeks last year and rose 11, cents during the week. Failures for the week have been 163 in the United States, against 179 last year, and 16 in Canada, against 26 last

Becoming a Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing can compare with the horrors of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipation of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom that cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Morners's Friend during pregnancy for the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom that cannot be shaken of all pain and danger, are insures affectly to mother and child. This scientific liminent is a godsend to all women at the time of their most critical ordeal. Not only does Morners's Friend carry woman safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period.
